PRESS AMENITIES IN THE FAR WEST

William W. Watt Calls Attention to the Swan-Song of the Gold Gulch Gazette.
Janesville, Nov. 14.
Editor Gazette: Journalism as practiced in the mining camps of the far west is certainly anxious to say the least. The Gold Gulch Gazette's farewell to Roaring Camp may prove of interest to Wisconsin readers.
"It has come."
"With this issue of the Gold Gulch Gazette the paper will cease to be."
The last, breathing, fearless organ of the people, the clarion, cry of the down-trodden and distressed, the badge of progress and reform, the unbought—except at the regular advertising rates—friend of the needy, the collarless disseminator of the news, the stalwart champion of the oppressed, will cease to beat.
"We are no quitter."
"We die fighting to the last ditch and with our last breath."
"We have to this community our heart's blood, and are ready to do it again—provided, of course, that circumstances should warrant a man's making such a fool of himself the second time."
"Roaring Camp is a failure. We hate to say it, but it is the truth. It is a double failure, rank, rotten and stinking failure."
"How did it happen?"
"What's the cause of it?"
"Try a pan or two in Gold Gulch creek and you'll d—soon see."
"Gold Gulch creek was salted."
"And the salt has worked out."
"Yes, sir, gentle reader; there was never any gold in Gold Gulch creek except what 'Jack' Benson of Angels put in it. This lank Scandinavian tucked in a couple of jackasses loaded with gravel, stuck it into the creek in the shadow of night and had a mummy-faced Chink, a fat Digger Indian and an old seven-thunder prospector pan it out and show it to us poor suckers."
"What the h— he did it for we don't know. Seems like he just wanted the people to see that he had it. What he took out in the daytime he dumped back in at night and panned her out again the next day. He sure kept that dust in circulation."
"We tell this with tears in our eyes, for we feel that we have been bamboozled and foully duped."
"Well, it's all over. We did our best. We have no regrets. We made some friends here and enough enemies to keep our self-respect."
"To one and all we say farewell."
"Good-by, 'Curly.'"
"Good-by, 'Gum Shoe.'"
"Good-by, 'Big George.'"
"Good-by, 'Baltosack Dick.'"
"Good-by, 'Pettie'—you one bright spot in this rotten town."
W. W. WATT.

TALK TOMORROW ON COMMISSION PLAN
Friends and Opponents of New Scheme of City Government Will Speak at Congregational Parlor.
"Commission Form of Government for the City of Janesville" will be the subject discussed before the Men's club at the Congregational church parlor, commencing at 7:15 tomorrow evening. Morris Smith will be the leader. A very interesting evening is assured and a full attendance is desired. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program. The topics will be taken up by friends and opponents of the plan as follows:
Wisconsin state law with reference thereto; Duties of members of commission; How these duties are usually apportioned among the several commissioners—Jesse Earle.
The relative cost of the commission system as compared with the present system—A. H. W. Brown.
Is the commission system, as compared with the present system, a moral and political reform?—Charles Lauge.
Should the commission have charge of the public school system in Janesville?—A. M. Fisher.
Some of the disadvantages of the commission system that are apparent—Ray Clarke.

MIDWINTER FAIR A FINANCIAL SUCCESS

Daptist Ladies Expect to Realize a Net Profit of $200—Another Large Crowd Last Evening.
Another large crowd attended the closing "performance" of the Midwinter fair last evening and there were several changes in the attractions. Fred Green joined the "Beauty show" in the role of a "colossal dame" and the "bearded lady," much to the chagrin of the clamoring populace, had vanished. Mrs. W. B. Conrad's marvelous "antogoround," with gearing properly adjusted, was operated without accident. It is expected that the Baptist ladies will realize a net profit of $200 from the undertaking.

PHIL. MARSKIE CENTRAL FIGURE IN ACRIAL STUNT

Phil. Marskie of the West Side fire station was the central figure in a ladder-climbing exhibition at the stone crusher plant yesterday afternoon. The tall smokestack of the works had become rusted and rotten and the wind had blown the upper portion of it over so that it blocked the outward passage of the smoke. A draught was needed for the engines and Supt. Dulin telephoned the fire department for aid and the ladder arrived and was raised so the work could be done. There was a scarcity of candidates who wanted to do the "steepie-jack" net fifty feet in the air. Several men slunk into the back-ground when requested to go up and it was up to Fireman Marskie to show who had the red corpuscles in their blood. With a shears and a hatchet he ascended the ladder and removed the broken section of pipe.

WIFE AND CHILD DIE AS HUSBAND FIGHTS DUEL

Two Brothers Shoot Down Man and His Family—Slayers Surrender to Sheriff.

Pioneer, La., Nov. 18.—In a three-cornered duel between Clarence Compton and two brothers named Sylvester and Albert Owen, the former, together with his wife and child, was killed and Sylvester Owen slightly wounded. The Owen boys surrendered themselves to the authorities.
The Owens are young sons of a Methodist preacher. They rode to Compton's house and demanded an apology for an unkind remark about the preacher's daughter.
"You little boys run along," scoffed Compton. "Why," he challenged, "I'll take two guns, fight you both at the same time and shoot your heads off."
The Owen boys jumped at the challenge. Compton secured two automatic revolvers. Twenty paces were measured off between Compton and the Owen brothers, who stood five feet apart. The word was given and the three opened fire, Compton using both his guns on the two brothers.
Several shots had been exchanged and the Owen brothers had begun to fire rapidly, when Compton's wife and her little daughter dashed from the house.
Before the Owen boys realized what was happening, or before Compton could stop shooting, Mrs. Compton had hurled herself into the line of fire and thrown her arms about her husband's neck. Her cry, "Stop, Clarence!" had hardly sounded when she fell, mortally wounded, and her child dropped dead. Compton fell over his wife's body with three bullet holes through his lungs. He lived only a few hours. He had continued fighting after being wounded.
Mrs. Compton died later. The Owen brothers are grief stricken over the killing of their woman and child, declaring she threw herself about her husband's neck so suddenly they had no chance to stop firing.

MGR. FALCONIO NEXT CARDINAL.

Expected He Will Become Member of the Curia.
Washington, Nov. 18.—Mgr. Domenico Falconio, papal legate to the United States, will be the next American cardinal and his appointment is expected to take place at the consistory to be held as soon as the pope's health permits.
He will also be made a member of the curia, with headquarters in Rome. This will be the first time any American will have a seat in the Vatican's board of representatives. This information was corroborated at the papal legation, Archbishop Farley of New York is reported to be the successor of Mgr. Falconio at Washington pending his own reported promotion to the cardinalate.
Mgr. Falconio is a naturalized American citizen.

Digest Insurance Ever Asked.
Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 18.—Insurance of $1,500,000 has been applied for on the life of George E. Nicholson, 49 years old, a cement manufacturer of Kansas City, by two of the companies of which he is the head. Insurance men say this is the largest amount in life insurance ever sought at one time upon the life of one person in the history of insurance. Mr. Nicholson is worth $4,000,000, and is a widower with two adult sons.

From the office of the Des Moines Daily News emanates a circular to advertisers which shows how well they value the value of the circular is appreciated. That circular states: "You no doubt have received our numerous solicitations for business, and perhaps have unconsciously thrown them into the waste basket." Does the circular writer expect special ceremonies in delegating circulars to their natural burial-ground—the waste basket?

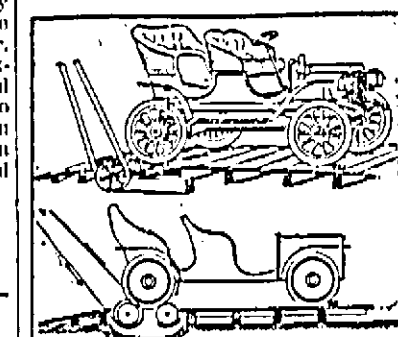

It is with and point, more than space and quantity, that make a good advertisement.

INDUSTRY AND MECHANICS

HANDY CONCRETE MIXER.

Apparatus Works Simply and is Invaluable for Use on Small Repair Jobs.

An invention of much interest to contractors, especially those who do a great deal of small work, is the portable concrete mixer designed by a Texan. This apparatus works very simply and is invaluable for use on small operations or repair work, where it would not pay to use one of the cumbersome and expensive power machines. The mixer consists of a large iron box at either end of which are wheels, which revolve upon an axle that runs through the box and on which the latter hangs loosely. Across the front of the receptacle is a sliding bar with a spoke in the outer end adapted to receive a spoke of the wheel on that side. Inside the box are bars, which act as churns as the machine is being moved to and fro and mix the concrete or whatever plastic material is in the receptacle. The whole top of the box is a lid, which fastens by lugs. The machine can be easily operated by one man, who has only to shove it about to mix the material inside.

Mixes as Wheels Revolve.

NOISELESS CLOCK IS MADE.

Timepiece, Which is Absolutely Silent, Will Run 1,000 Days Without Any Human Aid.

A clock, which is absolutely silent, so that not the slightest ticking is heard, that is guaranteed to go for 1,000 days without requiring the slightest human attention, and that will keep correct time in any position—even upside down—such is the Eureka electric clock recently invented by an Englishman, and which was submitted for the inspection of the king by Mr. Sigismund Kutnow, chairman of the Eureka Clock Company.
The simplicity and science of the mechanism of the invention are remarkable.
This clock is an entirely new departure. It is as unlike the old time-piece, with its weights, wheels and pendulums, as can possibly be imagined.
Its dial hands are moved by direct impulse from the electric current. Hitherto, attempts at making a self-winding clock have failed, owing to the complexity of the mechanism.
There is, however, practically no mechanism in the ordinary sense of the word, in the Eureka clock; such works as it has run on ball bearings large enough for a bicycle, so that the friction is almost nil.

Drying Plaster.
The plastering in new houses is being dried by a new apparatus so effectively in three days that exception in favor of the method is being made by the authorities in places having in force the German law forbidding the use for residence of any house until it has been built six months. The apparatus employed is a cone stove, with a number of small tubes surrounding the fire-box, and with supply pipes leading dry air from outside to these tubes. As the fresh air rapidly passing through the tubes becomes heated, it rises and passes along the ceiling and walls. It absorbs and becomes saturated with moisture from the plastering, then sinks, enters the fire-box of the stove, and escapes with the coke gases into the chimney. The current of heated dry air not only carries off the dampness very rapidly, but furnishes an abundance of carbonic acid to harden the mortar. The effect is exactly the same as that of slow natural drying, and the rooms are made speedily habitable instead of being unsafe to live in for many weeks.

Copper is Precious Metal.
In this almost universal age of electricity copper has become one of the most indispensable of the metals. If civilization to-day were confronted with the ultimatum, "Give up your gold or give up your copper," probably the world's gold mines would be deserted in preference.

Last year the production of copper in the United States exceeded by far that of any other year in the history of the metal. The year's totals as compiled by the geological survey was 942,570,731 pounds. In this production Arizona territory led with 252,562,651 pounds, and Massachusetts with 222,604,651 pounds.

As against this production of the refined metal, the apparent consumption was 475,955,318 pounds. From returns made by the smelting and refining companies the stocks of refined copper on January 1, 1909, showed a decrease of 3,869,937 pounds over the stocks of January 1, 1908.

The business that is allowed to take care of itself readily learns that the public apparently is not interfering in the process. The merchant who has an opportunity to tell the value and quality of his goods and their price, misses lots of business if he fails to do it. If a merchant had an opportunity to stand up before 20,000 people and tell them that he sold good reliable merchandise at reasonable prices and if he shirked the task, that merchant is what is generally known as a "dead one." The Gazette distributes in Janesville each day 3000 copies; there are only 2500 homes, therefore the Gazette goes into almost every home, beside being delivered to 1500 people on the rural routes. Every merchant has an opportunity to tell these people, through the advertising columns, what he has for sale, the quality and the price.

Never Filled Up.
The National Academy of Sciences, an election to which is the highest honor in this country open to scientists, was chartered by the national government nearly half a century ago and it is the official adviser of the government in scientific matters. The membership, which is limited to 150, has never been over 100.

Amalgamation of Telegraph and Telephone Interests Will Be Stopped Until Government Determines
Whether It Violates the Laws.New York, Nov. 18.—The projected merger of the Western Union Telegraph Company and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, according to Wall street gossip, will be halted, temporarily, at least, by the United States government.Special Assistant Attorney General
Ellis and Harrison are in New York, and it is said that their mission is to investigate the merger and determine whether or not it is against the law prohibiting combinations in restraint
of trade.Senate Directs Investigation.
On May 29, 1900, a resolution was adopted in the United States senate directing the secretary of commerce and labor to "institute an investigation into all the telegraph and telephone companies engaged in the conduct of interstate business as to the methods used in handling the public's business, the wages paid telegraphers, telephone operators and other employees of such companies, together with a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the companies."Mr. Ellis and Mr. Harrison have been busy engaged in this investigation. If they have been ordered to look into the merger they are well equipped for the work because of the information they have already garnered.Rates May Be Reduced.
It was said that the absorption of the Western Union would result in operating economies which would lead to the reduction of both telephone and telegraph rates. That such a scheme is being worked out was admitted by an official of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company.The Mackay Companies is the moving force behind the billion-dollar merger, and rumors are current that

Sires A. F. of Court Defying Speech by Speech.Toronto, Ont., Nov. 18.—Endorsing a report of the committee on boycott,
John Mitchell, one of the three officers of the American Federation of Labor
who are under sentence for contempt of court, made a dramatic speech to the convention of that organization.
He declared that, as far as he was concerned, regardless of consequences,
he intended while at liberty to declare for the rights guaranteed him by the organic laws of his country.The report, which drew forth Mitchell's speech, and which was adopted by the convention, among other things declared:"We say that when your cause is just and every other remedy has been employed without result, boycott; we say that when the employer has determined to exploit not only adult male labor, but our women and children, and our reasoning and appeal to his fairness and his conscience will not sway
him, boycott; we say that when labor has been oppressed, browbeaten and tyrannized, boycott; we say that when social and political conditions become so bad that ordinary remedial measures are fruitless, boycott, and, finally, we say, we have a right to boycott and we propose to exercise that right. In the application of this right of boycott,
to paraphrase the president (Gompers),
we propose to stride on and on."The convention broke into loud cheering for Mitchell as he concluded.
Mr. Mitchell said he realized that every statement made by those on the convention floor, and especially by those who on next Monday will have to deliver themselves to the courts, is being closely scrutinized.Mrs. McGuire Gets Decree.

Mattingly McGuire was granted a divorce to-day from Hilda Segle McGuire,
member of congress from Oklahoma for seven years, and one of the most prominent Republicans in the southwest. McGuire did not appear in court nor oppose the decree, which becomes absolute in six months. It was given on the ground of incompatibility.Girl Overpowers Burglar.
Princeton, Ind., Nov. 18.—Miss Grace Witherspoon, 20 years old, overpowered a burglar who had entered her home and wrestled from his grasp a pillow slip containing more than $200 worth of jewelry and furs which the intruder had stolen from an upstairs room. In the struggle which ensued the thief came out badly wounded, but made his escape.A Conservative Editor.

Nerve ExhaustionAre you losing ambition?

Treatment consists of absolute rest, easily digested and nourishing food, massage, electricity and medicine.

And its surroundings are peculiarly adapted to the successful treatment of nervous disorders. One thought which is supremely important in the treatment of these disorders is Complete Rest. Treatment which does not embody this idea is almost certainly doomed to failure. In some conditions absolute rest in bed combined with massage, electricity and an abundance of easily digested and nourishing food and resistant movements to keep up strength gives results which are not far short of miraculous. Sometimes there is a gain of several pounds in weight while lying in bed and without doubt several years are added to life with this method. Nervous conditions are frequently
due to some organ of the body
being deranged and not performing its functions properly thereby keeping up a constant irritation of the nervous system and eventually causing a nervous breakdown. In order to give permanent relief this diseased organ must be found and cured so that after you are relieved of your nervous condition your health is permanently restored. Beloit Riverview Sanitarium makes a specialty of the cure of nervous disorders also of diseases of the Bowels, Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Heart. Frequently in nervous condi-

GOV. DAVIDSON ISSUES THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

Madison, Wis., Nov. 16.—Gov. Davidson today issued the following proclamation designating Thursday, Nov. 25, as Thanksgiving day:

"It is well to live a rich, full life, and for its attainment, it is good now and then to pause and consider our circumstances, to review our resources and to plan for their greater effectiveness."

"In the productivity of nature we are now rich in the fruits of the year. Commercial and industrial prosperity have returned. Peace and good will toward each other abide with us and we are working harmoniously together for the realization of our material, social and spiritual ideals."

"It is fitting that we should give a day to the appreciation of what we have done and to plan for the future."

"Therefore by the authority of law and in harmony with the proclamation of the president of the United States, I, J. O. Davidson, governor of the state of Wisconsin, designate Thursday, Nov. 25, as Thanksgiving day and recommend that its usual customs be observed through out the state."

"JAMES O. DAVIDSON."

EXTRAVAGANT WASTE

Ninety million tons of coal, one-fifth of the total production of the country, were consumed by the 51,000 locomotives in the United States in 1906 in hauling freight and passenger trains. This fuel cost the railroad companies $170,500,000.

This enormous consumption of coal by the railroads led the United States Geological survey through its technological branch, to conduct a series of tests on a locomotive to determine whether or not there could be a saving to the country in the amount of fuel used and the results have just been announced in a bulletin of the survey.

Professor W. F. M. Goss, now dean of the University of Illinois, who had charge of the experiments, makes the statement that of the total 90,000,000 tons of coal used, 10,000,000 tons are lost through the heat in the gases that are discharged from the stacks of the locomotives; 8,000,000 tons are lost through clinders and sparks; 5,000,000 tons are lost through radiation, leakage of steam and water; 2,238,000 tons are lost through unburned fuel in the ashes; and 729,000 tons are lost through the incomplete combustion of gases. In addition, 18,000,000 tons are consumed in starting fires, in moving the locomotive to its train, in backing the train into or out of sidings and in keeping the locomotive hot while standing.

The department offers various suggestions for cutting down this extravagant waste in fuel, and some of them will doubtless be adopted.

While the railroads are doubtless the largest single consumers of coal, the fact has long been apparent that the private consumer is also paying for waste, which science should be able to remedy. The average household, using hot air for heating purposes, consumes every winter from 10 to 12 tons of anthracite coal, representing an investment of about $100.

The better generally prevails that half this fuel could be saved if scientifically used. Yet no effort is made to solve the problem and give the people the benefit. When the technological branch gets through with the railroads it might be well to devote a little time to the people.

A DANGEROUS CREED

When Vice President Mitchell arose to speak a hush fell on the convention, it being apparent that the delegates expected to hear startling words.

"I recognize that every statement made on the floor of this convention and especially by the three men who, on next Monday, must present themselves in court, is being scrutinized," said Mr. Mitchell. "I want the people of the United States to know that I am not speaking defiantly. But let the consequences be what they will, I shall not surrender any rights guaranteed me by the constitution of my country. I don't know how much physical and mental suffering will be necessary to make me submit, but if I know myself no amount of suffering will persuade me that I have not the right to spend my money as I please and to speak or write my thoughts on any subject, being responsible under the law for my acts."

"Whether the boycott is a benefit or a detriment each man must determine for himself. I maintain that my patronage is my own and no merchant has a property right in it. Any attempt by the authorities of the law to take away this right of men to do with their money as they please must be opposed to the limit."

This is an extract from a speech made by John Mitchell of labor leader fame at the Toronto convention yesterday. It is the first public utterance of Mr. Mitchell since his conviction, and the sentiments expressed will be a disappointment to many people, outside the ranks of labor, who entertained respect for the labor representative.

That Mr. Mitchell's position is untenable will be seen at a glance. No one disputes his right to spend where he chooses. There is no law, except the unwritten law of justice and humanity, to prevent the worker in shops or mines from taking his pay envelope Saturday night and spending its contents in the saloon, as many of them do.

If the women and children, who suffer in consequence, could have a hearing there would be a law providing punishment for this sort of crime and regulation would follow by appointing guardians for men incompetent to finance a week's wages.

But there is no such law and Mr. Mitchell is right when he declares the right of himself and every other man to spend his money as he chooses.

He is begging the question, however, for the crime of which he has been convicted is of broader significance than the spending of individual money. It has to do with the property rights of others, and with efforts to destroy these rights by the use of the unrighteous boycott.

The case would be less aggravating had the persecution caused when the perpetrators were enjoined by injunction. Failing to do this they were held for contempt of court, and because of this contempt they are convicted.

The law and the courts would soon become a byword if the people failed to respect them and a reign of lawlessness would speedily result. United labor has lost in attempting to legalize an illegal transaction.

Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island has come and gone and Chicago and Milwaukee, the cities he visited, are still on the map. The senator at close range is not so bad as he has been painted. The bankers and commercial clubs, who entertained him, discovered that he had no theories to exploit or pot schemes to advance. They found him a level-headed sensible business man, interested in the public welfare, and destitute of horns and hoofs. The country needs more statesmen like Senator Aldrich and "Uncle Joe" Cannon.

The legislative committee on education have proposed a bill which provides for a county board of education as outlined in another column. This is a move in the right direction as it has to do with the betterment and more intelligent supervision of the public schools. While the university is well equipped, the common schools, where the masses are educated, are woefully lacking. The new movement is entitled to support and encouragement.

That human life is being lengthened is evidenced by the fact that an old gentleman in Indiana has just celebrated his 100th birthday. The town where he had lived for 80 years turned out to do him reverence, and 250 relatives gathered in the banquet hall to celebrate the occasion. The strain of the day was too much for the centenarian and he died before the company dispersed.

The hotel shaft at Cherry, Illinois, has been sealed up and all hope abandoned of saving any of the 250 condemned miners. The little town is now under martial law, as the feeling of bitterness is most intense. President Harding of the Milwaukee road is on the ground doing all he can to relieve suffering. The disaster is the most appalling of any that has visited the west in many years.

The Chicago Inter Ocean is engaged in a campaign of graft exposure which threatens to involve the mayor and many other city officials. The charges are too serious to whitewash, but they may be difficult to establish because of the money and influence used to block investigation. San Francisco is not the only large city cursed with a rotten government.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD.

This is a true story and a sad story and typical of the way of the world.

Mrs. William Dietz of Bellevue, Ky., "got tired of living with her husband" and ran away with William Keefe of Newport, Ky., who also had a family.

In Chicago, after a few weeks, Keefe deserted Mrs. Dietz, whom he had ruined, and sneaked back to the bosom of his family, where he was welcomed with open arms.

Which is the way of the world. The woman in the case, repudiated by her husband and deserted by the man for whom she had given up all, struggled alone for awhile against great odds. Being unable to find employment and in despair, she shot herself.

Which is also the way of the world. While in the hospital and torn with the pain of her wound, friendless, her sufferings were made more poignant by the following statements given to the newspapers:

"Mrs. Dietz—I am done with my life. She took herself out of my life when she eloped with Keefe. I want nothing more to do with her. I called at the hospital merely to see if she was dead."

The way of the world. William Keefe—I became tired of that false life and yearned to return to my own family. I could stand it no longer.

The way of the world. Mrs. William Keefe—I know my husband would not have eloped with me if he had not been for Mrs. Dietz. She was the one to blame. I am joyful that my husband is back. I know he will never leave again.

The way of the world. Let the woman suffer! "She was the one to blame." Forgive the man. When he becomes tired of the false life and yearns to return to his family forgive him, coddle him, believe his protestations, trust his promises for the future. But the woman?

It is the way of the world—Turn the cold shoulder to her because she has "ruined herself." The man who lured her—he has not ruined himself. Oh, no; he was only an indiscretion on his part. But one mistake is sufficient for her.

It is the way of the world. There is no forgiveness for the woman even though her repentance is by the way of agony and bitter tears. She has committed the unpardonable sin. Put her outside the pale. Let the man go. But make the woman wear the scarlet letter. She has "ruined herself."

It is the way of the world. Poverty's Sign. Seeing a tramp hurrying away from a large house, a fellow professional asked him what luck he had met with. "It ain't worth addin' there," was the reply. "I just add a poon through the window. It's a poverty-stricken 'ouse mate. There was acually two tyldes playing on one planer!"

Washington a Forest State. In the state of Washington 27 per cent. of the area is still in reservations, the greater extent being of forestry reserves.

Oh, our anger off hath waxed o'er the work we have to do, o'er the knowledge that we're taxed to support the loading crew.

THE WORKERS have wrought since the universe was new, and this knowledge makes them hot—(but the chores are not half through!—Just as much to do today as ten thousand years ago—winning clocks or sifting wheat, shearing hogs or sawing snow! While the tollers now on earth toddle in their final sleep, other germs of stinging worth, in their place must work and weep, doing all the useless chores that we foolish people do; chasing tomatoes out of doors, teaching dogs to smoke and cheer. We would gladly do the work (ill our stretch of work is done, if it were not for the whirr who is lounging in the sun; when we see him as he stands in his favorite lazing spot, with his idle hand and hands, then it makes us pretty hot. Oh, our anger off hath waxed o'er the work we have to do, o'er the knowledge that we're taxed to support the loading crew.

READY TO WEAR NEWS

THAT WILL BE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN GENERALLY

This announcement is made to keep you informed regarding the excellent condition of our stock. We can say without fear of contradiction that assortments will be found at THE BIG STORE fully three times greater than can be seen elsewhere in Southern Wisconsin. WE WISH TO MAKE IT VERY PLAIN, TOO, that we are making EXCEPTIONALLY LOW PRICES, meeting all competition and doing just a little better than all other houses, class of garments considered.

Our garment department is visited by a great many women in the course of a week and judging from the very satisfactory sales we are having, we occupy a very enviable position, and the other stores simply have to take their hats off to THE BIG STORE.

If you have a garment want it would hardly seem wise not to see Janesville's Greatest Stock before buying.

Our Showing Of Suits

This department is wonderfully complete. There is hardly a shade that we cannot supply. We have kept adding to this stock and keeping it up to the top notch until now it presents the very best showing. We are making prices SO LOW that when women call and find out how reasonable our PRICES are they are truly surprised and pleased. Many of the SUITS are man tailored, others are trimmed and elaborate, and all good colors are represented. We have a remarkably good line of BROADCLOTH and NEW CHEVIOT SUITS, semi and tight fitting, made with shawl collars, long coats.

Handsome One Piece Dresses

Never was there a time when ladies could be supplied with handsome dresses and gowns at The Big Store better than now. We have smart designs for street wear, for afternoon and evening gowns. Materials are light panamas, serges, chiffon broadcloths and diagonals, messalines, bengalines, silks.

One line worth particular mention is the swaggar dresses of silk jersey braided top with plaited chiffon broadcloth skirts.

Any lady will find our assortments comprehensive enough to afford a most satisfactory selection.

COATS IN NEWEST STYLES

We are showing a big line of swell mixtures so very stylish in the large styles. These coats come in tight fitting, semi-fitting and rather loose styles, made with large storm collars, handsome large cuffs and immense buttons and trimmed in contrasting colors. They are storm coats and street coats combined, for autoing and driving, plain co-ed and Moy-enage styles.

Children's Coats

Our stock of Children's Coats is unusually large this season and offers a variety of assortment and prices that far surpasses anything else shown hereabouts. This season we include the junior coats in this stock and can fit any girl or miss. Sizes 4 years to 18 years. In colors, nothing missing.

JERSEY WAISTS, very new and attractive. Nice to wear over any skirt.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MRS. AGNES SHERER

Pioneer Resident of Janesville Succumbed to Heart Disease at 7:45 This Morning.

Mrs. Agnes Sherer, a resident of Janesville since 1850, and a woman who was held in the highest regard by all of her many friends and acquaintances, died suddenly of heart disease at her home, 455 Terrace street, shortly before eight o'clock this morning. She had apparently been in good health within a few hours of the time of her passing. Born in Borden, Germany, Jan. 21, 1834, and came to this country and settled in Milwaukee in 1848. The surviving members of her family are Mrs. Sarah Helen Carman, a daughter, and William T. Sherer, a son, both of this city. The funeral will be held from the home at two o'clock Saturday afternoon and the grave services will be held at Oak Hill chapel.

Various members of the class have been appointed to do the work and have already commenced their labors. The book will make its appearance in May. The publication was discontinued last year on account of the failure of former years, but the present Junior class has insured the success of it this year by assigning each member of the class for a guarantee fund. Harry Sholes has been selected as editor-in-chief, with Miss Nellie Robertson as his assistant. Glenn Robertson looks after the advertising and the business end of the paper. Other members of the official staff are: Rachel Loomis, Laura J. Lewis, French, Lyman, editor; Jennie Slawson, Philanthropy editor; Will Slawson, Forum editor; Miss Ethel Roberts will have charge of the art department and Miss Kathryn Jeffers will blue pencil all that appears in the Chat and Exchange departments. ## PRELIMINARIES FOR HIGH SCHOOL TITLE

Four Class Football Eleven Play This Afternoon—Deciding Contest Saturday.

This afternoon after school, two football contests between teams representing the four classes of the high school are to occur, those contests being the preliminaries in selecting the championship of the school. The class championship of the school, the events are ones to which the students have been looking forward with considerable interest and there is a good deal of conjecture among them as to who will be the victors. The Seniors, having five of the first team on their eleven, feel confident that the honors will all be theirs, but the Juniors although they have not as many of the regular school team, profess that their team will be equally as strong and if not victorious will make the Seniors work hard for their victory. The Sophomores who play the Freshies this afternoon are also said to have quite a strong team. The winners of the Senior-Junior and Sophomore-Freshman games this afternoon will play off the deciding contest next Saturday at Athletic Park. The teams will line up as follows:

WEALTHY PRISONERS PAID THEIR FINES

Four Out of Five Drunks Had Sufficient Money to Escape a Jail Sentence.

With one exception every prisoner up in municipal court this morning was able to pay his fine and still have enough to carry out a post-sentence celebration. It was a select and wealthy bunch compared to the derelicts who generally are gathered in.

Alfred Knudson and Harry Wooster, who gave his name as Harry Jones, who of Broadhead, were dragged from both of Broadhead, were dragged from a passenger coach on the Mineral Point train last night on half-past seven by Officer John Dalton. When arrested they were merrily pussingling grog about on the seats watching the affair with great interest. Each paid a fine amounting to $4. John Knudson, who is last seen, was sent to jail for fifteen days on a charge of being drunk and insulting passersby.

Enil Myers of Stoutland, who with $75.11 was the Rockefeller of the consignment, paid a fine amounting to $1. Alphonse Desmet, a Belgian, was allowed to go after his explanation had been given from an incoherent jumble of words. He was taken in charge at the C. & N. W. Ry. station this morning at four o'clock and his rapid-fire, disjointed torrent of words could not be interpreted.

Lindsay of Oregon; Mrs. Rotford of Milwaukee; Mrs. Euphrasia Sayre of Fulton; Dr. Ewing of Evansville; and Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Helm, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Helm, Mrs. Euphrasia Sayre, Mrs. Messer, Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Elsie Clark, all of Beloit, were among those who attended the services. "He was on the board for twenty-two years and was one of its most conscientious and valuable members," said Dr. Harper.

The many beautiful floral offerings bore testimony to the affectionate regard in which the deceased was held. Dr. David Boston delivered the address and the pallbearers were: A. F. Hall, George M. McKee, Ogden H. Fethers, L. F. Wortendyke, Archie Reid, and Richard Valentine. Interment was made at Oak Hill cemetery.

FARMER REPORTED HIS HORSE HAD BEEN STOLEN

Alfred Peterson Left Animal Tied on South River Street and It Disappeared.

Alfred Peterson of "Happy Holler" thought that his horse which he had tied on South River street last night, had been stolen and notified the police of his suspicions. His theory, however, was incorrect for the steed was found this morning nuzzling comfortably along South Cherry street. It would appear that the farmer's Ducephalus did not relish his enforced seclusion on the chilly street so he slipped his moorings and started for home.

VIOLENCE FEARED; WALLS CAVED IN

WOMEN AT CHERRY DEMAND
VENGEANCE WHILE SOL-DIERS SURROUND MINE.

JIBES FOR MINE EXPERTS

Failure by Officials to Enter Galleries
In Search of Entombed Miners Creates Spirit of Rebellion—Men Descend Ventilating Shaft.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 18.—Two daring men took their lives into their hands late last night and descended into the ventilating shaft of the ill-fated St. Paul mine in the gallery of which more than three hundred men and boys lie dead. It was the first time the shaft had been entered since last Sunday.

The exploit was successfully carried through by Thomas Morris and R. Y. Williams, both of the United States geological survey. They were nearly exhausted when hauled to the top, but quickly revived under the administration of stimulants.

Fire Has Moved Back.
From what they discovered it is thought the fire has moved back from the main shaft and that it may be possible to enter it soon. The walls of the shaft have caved in places and may collapse at any minute. No bodies were found and life in the mine was declared impossible.

Williams, much the lighter man of the two, descended to the second gallery, where the fire started. The shaft was comparatively cool. There was considerable steam, but much less smoke than on Sunday.

The buckets in which the descent was made were small and made closer scrutiny of the gallery impossible. The buckets were large enough only to stand on and the effort of holding the rope, carrying the oxygen apparatus on their backs at the same time, wore both men out.

Crowd Surrounds Shaft.
The two men were lowered after several hours of preparation. The mouth of the shaft, ill-lit and muddy, was surrounded for hours by a crowd of firemen, newspaper men, miners and officials, who waited patiently in spite of the biting cold.

Before the descent in the face of what the mourning hundreds considered laxness and inactivity, there was a smoldering spirit of trouble which threatened to burst into a fury of violence and accusation at any moment. Blatant hurrahs were made at the main shaft that leads to the tomb of the entrapped miners.

Mine owners clashed with the state over the production of evidence to show the child-labor law was violated by the coal company. Strong differences arose in the conference of experts in charge of the situation. And every faint hope for the rescue of any of the hundreds of men in the burning mine was killed by the experts. Every man in the mine must die unless reached to-day. If a last attempt to reach the men, which will be made to-day fails, as the two previous attempts have, the mine will be sealed with concrete and weeks or more may pass before it will be opened.

Millita Prepares for Trouble.
The companies of militia here are preparing for trouble. Disorder is feared if efforts to take out the men are abandoned or fail. The conference of experts announced that its members are certain every man in the mine is dead. When the families and friends learn this, incendiary speeches may drive them to violent expression of the threats and charges they have already voiced.

Angry and despairing women gathered in crowds around the shaft and lynching and crucifixion were advocated. Incited by women, half crazed by the delays and failures of the rescue work, a shouting, hissing, cursing crowd vowed vengeance for the men below. Mrs. Jerome Houchei begged, prayed and demanded that the main shaft be opened.

"You let them die like dogs," she screamed, stretching out her arm to point out the mine inspectors gathered on the shaft. "You cowards, why don't you open the shaft and help the men? My husband is down in that hell and you might have dug down to them by this time."

She marched toward the group of inspectors, both arms raised, choking with sobs, and praying that the miners might be avenged. The experts dispersed and hurried into the crowd while deputy sheriffs tried to lead the woman away. She fought them and went on: "Why don't you men do something? Bring us our dead, but don't drive us crazy with waiting."

She flung herself on the sand-covered shaft and lay there shouting imprecations on the experts until nurses carried her away. Aroused by her, the crowd gathered closer and grew noisier.

Jibes for Mine Experts.
Joseph Nicolai, secretary of the Italian consulate at Chicago, jumped on the edge of the shaft and tried to quiet the crowd. He pleaded in Italian for order but his own countrymen answered him only with jibes and criticism of the mine experts.

James Weatherbee, an old miner from Ladd, jumped on another corner of the shaft and shouted for attention.

"These experts are killing the men," he shouted. "The men are alive. Why aren't they taken out? They are being crucified. These experts, these smart men, are doing the crucifying. They ought to be treated the same way. What about the wives and the kids? Isn't anybody going to do anything? Look at this man Cowley, the engineer who left his cage down in the fire while men died. He hoisted coal when he ought to have been hoisting men. Cowley ought to get his. It's a wonder he isn't lynched."

Sheriff Stops Harangue.
Sheriff Skoglund broke through the crowd and stopped Weatherbee and made him leave the shaft. But the crowd took up the violent talk and cursed and threatened those they thought responsible for the mine disaster.

No Attempt to Enter Mine.

In spite of this show of dangerous impatience, no attempt was made to go into the mine. For six hours the score of experts argued for their different ways of taking out the bodies. They split on the question of again opening the main shaft, the action that caused the almost extinguished fire to rage anew. Every phase of the situation was discussed and it was agreed without dissent that the men in the mine are all dead and that present efforts are only to take out the bodies before all become unrecognizable.

Soldiers Now on Guard.

Two companies of state militia—one each from Galesburg and Kewanee—are on guard at the mine, having been ordered to the scene by Gov. Deneen.

It was a terrible shock to the widows and orphans when they visited the mine at dawn and found the armed sentinels forming a living wall around the only opening into the coal mine which holds their kin. The grief and sorrow began slowly to give way to protests and indignation and many threats were heard against those who called for the soldiers, where previously were heard only moans of grief.

News of the arrival of the soldiers spread like a prairie fire among the officials of the various mining and labor organizations, and brought forth the announcement that they would appeal to Gov. Deneen to recall the troops on the ground that they were sent to the mine under a misapprehension of existing conditions.

Discover Alleged Plot.

The discovery of an alleged plot to dynamite a long string of sleeping cars containing mine officials, state inspectors, trained nurses and newspaper men was the development that caused Sheriff Skoglund of Bureau county to appeal to Gov. Deneen for the state troops.

The plot, it is said, had been hatched by grief-crazed miners and friends and relatives of the men whose bodies are now in the tunnels of the St. Paul mine. It also is declared that the lives of President Earling of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and other officials have been threatened by foreigners who believe they are responsible for the appalling mine disaster.

Fear that the dynamite plot might be carried out in spite of the troops was expressed by all.

Sentinels were placed around the cars with loaded rifles, with orders to keep all suspicious characters at a distance.

So evident is the belief that there is no hope for the entombed miners that

Mr. Taylor of the St. Paul railroad has ordered, through undertakers at Cherry, from the Western Casket Company at Chicago, six carloads of caskets, which were shipped on a special relief train which left Chicago last evening. The caskets were uniform in design, being trimmed with black broad cloth.

Davies Balked in Inquiry.

Edgar T. Davies, state factory inspector, was balked by the St. Paul Coal Company just as he thought he had evidence to show that the 16 trapped boys who are thought to have been burned in the mine, were illegally employed. Mr. Davies came here to elicit the records at the company office. The pay roll clerk told him the papers of John Bundy, the dead mine superintendent, would give the evidence he sought, covering the boys' ages. The clerk went to the vault and took out the papers.

Frank Buck, chief clerk, saw the move. He took the papers from his assistant, declaring they were the wrong ones.

Mr. Davies pleaded for a further search, but vainly. He may commence action to require the production of the papers and other records for use in his investigation.

That boys under age are among the dead in the St. Paul mine has been proved to his own satisfaction, however, says Mr. Davies.

In one case, the child victim's mother has apparently lost her reason and the state officials are investigating the case with a view to fixing the responsibility for violation of the law that has ended so doubly tragic in this particular case.

Call Situation Serious.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The American national Red Cross headquarters in this city received the following telegram from National Director Ernest P. Dickson at Cherry, Ill.: "Permanent representative relief committee organized, with myself chairman. The governor issued appeal today directing that contributions be sent to Orson Smith. We have a long, hard task ahead. The situation here is most serious."

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 18.—The Illinois State Re-Keepers' association met today in annual session at the state house. Among the speakers on the program are Dr. Bohrer of Lyons, Kan., a charter member of the national association; C. P. Daland of Hamilton, Ill., and George W. York of Chicago. ## A STARTLING STATEMENT

New York Medical Authorities
Claim Dyspepsia to be a Pre-Disposing Cause of Consumption.

The post mortem statistics of the big New York hospitals show that some cases of consumption are due, at least indirectly, to unchecked dyspepsia, especially when the victim was predisposed to tuberculosis.

Dyspepsia wears out the body and brain. The weakened, irritable stomach being unable to digest food, the body does not receive the required nourishment, and the victim becomes thin, weak and haggard. As a result, the body becomes a fertile in which the germs of disease may lodge and flourish.

Therefore, the person who permits dyspepsia to progress unhindered is guilty of contributing toward the development of one of the most insidious and fatal diseases known to man.

Dyspepsia may be completely eradicated if properly treated. We sell a remedy that we positively guarantee will completely relieve indigestion or dyspepsia, or the medicine used during the trial will cost the user nothing.

This remedy has been named Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Certainly no other could be more fair, and our offer should be proof positive that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are a dependable remedy.

Inasmuch as the medicine will cost you nothing if it does not benefit you, we urge you who are suffering with indigestion or dyspepsia to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. A 25-cent box contains enough medicine for fifteen days' treatment. For chronic cases we have two larger sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall remedies in Janesville, only at our store, The Rexall Store, The Smith Drug Co.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

TO BE able to flatter gracefully is an accomplishment that comes in handy in most of the walks of life.

"Pooh, anyone can flatter," contributes somebody.

Yes, anyone can flatter, but not gracefully.

Flattery to be pretty must of course wear a mask and the average person doesn't know how to pay a compliment without labeling it flattery so obviously that it loses most of its value.

To be able to flatter with real subtlety takes practice, but here are a few suggestions which, if he will adopt them, will make the average person's attempts at flattery rather less crude.

Never flatter a woman who appears to have any common sense about home grace that common sense will tell her she does not possess.

For instance, never try to make a girl with obviously large feet think you admire her cumbly little shoes.

Ten to one you'll find out she's sensible enough to be offended rather than pleased.

This rule doesn't hold with men, as most men have more capacious egotism in the matter of flattery and will very easily swallow a dose that a third person would call impossible.

The only time the average man ever admits to himself that he is wrong and a woman is right, is when some woman flatters him about a charm that he did not know he possessed.

If some woman, for instance, tells a narrow-chested, stoop-shouldered man that she admires his broad, manly shoulders, he will probably say to himself, "I guess I was mistaken in thinking I was narrow shouldered."

Don't on the other hand flatter people about their most obvious good qualities. They have probably heard those same compliments so many times before that they haven't a great deal of value. Pick out some less obvious good point and dilate on that and you will win yourself a warm corner in the coldest heart.

Quite frequently the very clever girl with the rather pretty face would a hundred times rather be told that she was pretty than that she was clever.

And very often the brilliant scholar or clever businessman is more proud of his indifferent good success as a golf player than his business acumen or intellectual ability.

It is an axiom in the science of human nature that few of us are proud of the things we have most reason to be proud of. The skillful flatterer, being also a skillful student of human nature, knows this and builds on it.

One of the cleverest tricks of the good flatterer is to put a spoon of disparagement in with his praise and thereby make the praise seem more genuine.

"If anyone asks my opinion of anything," said one of this ilk, "I always find fault with some small detail so that he will think my extravagant praise of the rest is truthful."

Of course, it's better never to flatter, but most of us find it expedient if not absolutely necessary to pay our respects to the blarney stone at times, and to quote from the precepts of copy-book days—

"What's worth doing at all is worth doing well."

FADS AND FASHIONS.

New York, Nov. 18.—It cannot be denied that there is a decided sameness about the tailormade suit at this time. The long, loose, straight coat, curving just a little more at the sides than that of the spring, and something in the back, is the rule and rough-cloth seems to be the favorite. Broad-cloth is less popular than in many years, so far as street costumes are concerned. For the general utility coat and skirt or three-piece suit the rough, loosely-woven wide wale diagonal is perhaps first choice. After it come other rough surface serges, chevrons, houndstooth, etc. A coarse thread of black runs through many of the rough colored stuffs with effective results, and two-tone mixtures in the rough wools have a considerable vogue.

Severest tailored style would seem the smartest thing for such materials and the severe tailored frock is much to the fore, but one finds braiding used upon many of the rough cloth and touches of velvet and embroidery are not considered amiss. One thing militates against the triumphal career of these very rough wools. They are not so practical for the popular three-piece suits as broadcloth and finer serge would be, and this fact has led to a greater vogue for the blouse on suit with coat and skirt than was expected at the beginning of the season.

As a good coat usually outwears a skirt, many women are economizing by ordering a one-piece walking frock and coat with a separate skirt to match. The coat and skirt can be worn with comfortable old blouses for ordinary purposes and the coat and frock furnish a walking costume a little more formal and pretentious. It is also a good plan to get a coat and skirt walking suit and a little walking frock in the same color but of different material. The coat and skirt may be of serge, broadcloth, or alpaca and the extra frock of something lighter, preferably of silk or silk and wool mixture.

There is a new crepe weave which is altogether charming for such a frock, though it is so high in price that it may be considered by the average woman too expensive for her purpose. It has a slight cord and an exquisite surface, dull, yet lustrous. At first glance one might think it a soft woolen material because of its softness, but one look at the folds into which it drapes proclaims it crepe. On the wrong side it has a satin finish and pronounced cord, and despite its wonderful suppleness there is more body and wearing quality to it than to the more familiar crepes.

In Paris chiffon and silk mousseline are being used in enormous quantities for tunics, veiling, etc., on the visiting reception and carriage frocks, and the makers do not hesitate to combine these sheer stuffs with the heavier materials, not only the crepes, silk, cashmeres, etc., but velvet cloth and even rough serge.

Black is exceedingly strong this season, even on this side of the ocean, and in Paris it is a perfect craze, for which many a woman will be devoutly thankful, for the modish black frock covers a multitude of wardrobe sins or defects. Tailored frocks, visiting gowns, dinner gowns, evening gowns, any and all are smart in black, though it is in daytime costume that the all-black toilette is newest and most chic. Color is seldom used to relieve the black, though cream almost always is used next to the face, and a little gold frequently enters into the gumpie. The monotone affects either in black or color are seldom carried to extremes this year. The frock color mounting quite to the face proved an unbecoming when tried last year that women rebelled and dressmakers recognized, and this season we have the becoming cream or white next to the face once more.

Persian silk is artfully utilized by many blouse-makers for the foundation over which dark chiffon falls. The lovely design of this silk is obvious in its coloring, and its uncertainty adds a charm which always strives for by those who shun fragrant or conspicuous tones. One underhouse of Persian silk in which green and mauve are veiled with a silver light, is especially beautiful under a black chiffon bolero. This is braided with black soutache and falls to the top of the folded girdle of silk. Long silk sleeves are draped at the top with chiffon, and ornamental buttons ornament the front and back of the girdle and the outer line of the sleeves. Tiny black satin loops and a small eravat finish this blouse. Persian silks are rising in favor because of their two-colored effects, making it possible to wear one blouse with two different suits. Aside from this practical feature, the material has many attractive features, not the least important of which is the great beauty of the material.

Flows are used extensively just now. They appear on hats, gowns, skirts and muffs, and vary from a large, flat satin form to a tiny plaited gold shape. On the turned-up brim of a hat, bows, gold loops and bronze ones. Then, again, metal lace is tied in stiff shapes and nestles in fur and feathers. Some huge bows of white or black lace form the only trimming for large, flat hats. Indeed, a huge wing has been turned under to simulate a bow on a velvet shape.

On gowns, especially for evening wear, bows are used in unexpected places, and their contrasting shades

A Skin of Beauty is a Joy Forever.
DR. T. Felix Osburn's Oriental Cream or Magic Ointment.

are utilized by clever makers to carry a favorite color up, down or around the costume. Under a cream lace robe, following the upper line of the corsage, a pale blue ribbon will be placed which crosses under the sleeve and bursts out through an opening on the sleeve in the form of a butterfly bow. Another designer will place three large satin bows in a row down the back line of a lace skirt. Velvet bows run up the friendly lines of sleeves. In fact, the friendly bow solves many little trifling problems when tied and placed by the hand of an adept. Even cuffs and fur collars have come in for their share of the bow. From lingerie to fur garments the stamp of approval goes with this tied form of all kinds of material.

An extreme novelty is a combination garment of knickerbockers and princess chemise. The upper part fits the figure closely and has a double ruffle of lace, which falls in a cascade from the yoke almost to the waist line. The lower part of this garment is gathered into a band of lace and insertion at the knees, each being edged with a full ruffle of linen and lace. This entire combination is striped with insertion and lace. It is an attractive idea which has been evolved from the silk bloomers of last season.

A charming little touch on a collarless evening coat is an attached scarf. This may be a long and narrow piece of gauze net or chiffon, embroidered or brocaded to match the wrap. It is securely held at the top of the right front, and may be swathed around the throat and allowed to fall over the wrap in front.

Russian blouses are worn a great deal by young girls. Silk or embroidered belts are worn with them, and the material of the belt is used again in the rowette or cabochon on the velvet hats which are worn with them.

Bracelets are again worn with afternoon and evening gowns. They are enjoying a well-deserved popularity, for they are clashing the arms in all shapes and styles, from the leather watch form to the jeweled snake. Now "extensible" bracelets expand and contract with the movements of the arm. A new thing are velvet bracelets edged with diamonds and pearls. They have the added value of bringing out the whiteness of the wearer's skin.

Some dainty new hat pins are headed with Irish crochet lace.

MANTEL OF CLOTH

Most pleuregus are the mantels, scarfs and aprons used for all occasions this season. The one which is sketched above displays most beautiful lines and workmanship. The long full fronts and the snugly fitting shoulders are cut in one, with the wide panel forming the center back; the sides are cut slightly circular, the bottom line sloping gradually toward the back. The material used was cream cloth heavily embroidered in gold, the embroidery forming a deep yoke at the back and reaching partly over the shoulders in front.

Weak Hearts

"I was terribly afflicted with my heart. At times it seemed to miss every other beat. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy until my trouble was all gone—it has never returned." R. R. PENN, Springfield, Iowa.

One person in every four has a weak heart. Some are born weak, some become weak from disease, others by over-exertion. If you have palpitation, fluttering, irregular pulse, short breath, oppressed feeling in chest, smothering or faint spells, you may know your heart is weak. There is nothing better for a weak heart than

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy. It has brought relief to thousands. It should be to you, even in cases of long standing. The first bottle will benefit; if not, your druggist will return your money.

Four minute Records for the Edison Phonograph

When Mr. Edison invented the Amberol Records he invented the longest Record ever made for a sound-reproducing machine. But the Amberol Record is not only longer; it is better. It is made from a new composition which makes a more perfect reproduction of music or the voice than any known method.

An Amberol Record in an Edison Phonograph is the most perfect reproduction of a song or a piece of instrumental music that you have ever heard.

But do not accept our statement. Go and hear it. There is a dealer near you. Hear the Edison Phonograph and compare it with other instruments before you decide. We will leave it to your judgment as to whether you can buy anything for the price that will give you so much real, genuine fun and pleasure as the Edison Phonograph.

SATURDAY GAMES

Will Be Decisive

Victorious Teams in Both Sections
Can Claim Title of Eastern or Western Championship.

Saturday's football games, both in the east and west, but more especially in the west, will practically decide what teams are to be regarded as champions in their respective sections. It is generally conceded that Yale with Captain Coy and other stars in the game, will be successful in defeating Harvard as it is extremely doubtful if Captain Fish of the "Tigers" will be in condition to play.
Of the other eastern games, that of Illinois vs. Syracuse, at Syracuse, will be of great interest in the west. Both schools have good second rate teams
and as Syracuse played Michigan earlier in the season a comparison of the scores will give some idea of the comparative playing abilities of Yale's and Shellen's machines.

Two western games, however, those between Michigan and Minnesota at Minneapolis, and Wisconsin and Chicago at Chicago, will rivet attention of every western football enthusiast.
Minnesota has won the undivided conference championship and as yet
the Gophers have not a single defeat charged up against them. Michigan, in spite of a miserable showing against Marquette and a crushing defeat administered by Notre Dame, has come back wonderfully and under "Hurry-up" Yost's strenuous coaching, has defeated Pennsylvania, one of the leaders in the second division of the eastern schools. The "Gophers" have a team that ranks well up with any in the country and is admittedly one of the best ever turned by Williams.
Not only will the game decide the championship of the west, but it will give some idea of how Minnesota ranks with the eastern teams. Notre Dame has yet to be considered by the west in picking a western champion and if Minnesota is successful in defeating the "Volunteers" a postseason game will doubtless be arranged between the Catholicon and Coach Williams' warriors.

The game at Chicago between the Badgers and Maroons has no championship bearing but will serve only to decide who will rank second in the "big eight." Rivalry between the two schools is so keen, however, that although no championship hinges on the result, the game will be as bitterly fought as though it were for the conference title. The games scheduled for Saturday are as follows:

Yale vs. Harvard, at Cambridge;
Cornell vs. Niagara, at Ithaca, N. Y.;

NEW SYSTEM FOR

COUNTRY SCHOOLS

Hearing in Milwaukee Dec. 24 on

Proposed Bill Creating County

Boards of Education.

The special committee of the Wisconsin legislature on education will hold sessions on December 20, 21 and 22 in Milwaukee during the Nationals through a series of remarkable meetings will be held morning

and afternoon in the directors' room

of the auditorium on the second floor.

At that time a bill for the creation of a county board of education for each county in the state will be considered. The committee cordially invites all persons interested for or against the bill to appear and discuss

it. At that time also other suggestions for the improvement of educational conditions in Wisconsin will be welcomed.

The county board plan is designed to give the rural schools more effective supervision, something that is greatly needed. In brief it provides for a county board of education to consist of five members. One of these members is to be the chairman of the county board and the other four are to be elected at the spring election.

They are to be non-salaried, will elect the county superintendent for two years, appoint assistant superintendents and a board of examiners for county school diplomas. The bill also provides that the members of the board must visit and inspect the rural schools regularly. Copies of the bill will be mailed to anyone who will write the undersigned.

The committee recently concluded

a series of meetings in Milwaukee

held at the same time as the convention of the Wisconsin Teachers' association. Great interest was manifested by the educators of the state in the work of the committee. The committee now seeks the cooperation of the people as well as the educators of the state and desires that every citizen consider the bill as a great public duty. There is a great work to be done for education in Wiscon-

sinn and for the rural schools especially and the committee believes that when the people understand conditions that they will heartily and patriotically support the efforts in this direction.

Vice Chairman.

"SHIPWRECKED" WAS

GIVEN LAST NIGHT

Company Continues to Win Favorable

Comment—Cherry Benefit Will

Be Given Tonight.

"Shipwrecked," a drama adapted from Charles Reade's famous novel

was offered by the Maxwell-Hall

Stock Company to a large audience

at the Myers Theatre last night and met with a cordial reception. The novel, which is intensely interesting, has none of its power when put on the stage and the situations are so cleverly contrived that none of the really important parts are left out.

Robert Norwood, disgraced and sentenced to the walls of Australia

through the duplicity of his friend

at industrial educational convention,

ventures, which include being shipwrecked on a desert island, with the beautiful fiancée of his father, who is restored to his rightful place in the world, in addition to winning his bride, Margaret Stuart, whose life he saved during the wreck.

The parts are all well taken by the members of the company, whose work

does not fall below the high standard set at the opening performances.

This evening "A Deserter's Bride" will be the offering and those who wish to contribute toward the destitute widows and orphans of those miners entombed by the terrible disaster at Cherry, Ill., can do so with no appreciable sacrifice to themselves

for the show is said to be well worth the price of admission. The receipts will be handled by a committee other than those interested in the performance and everything above bare necessaries will be sent to the stricken village.

Prevented Bad Fire

A fire which for a time threatened to be very serious broke out at about six o'clock last evening at the home of George Acheson on East Main street. It is supposed that when striking a match with which to light a lamp the head of the match had snapped off and after smoldering had set fire to the draperies of the couch. When the fire was discovered the couch and sofa pillows were all obliterated. Fortunately Mr. Acheson

was not home and succeeded in dragging the lounge out of doors. While he was doing this the flames had spread to the portieres and other furnishings,

but by quick work he was able to smother the blaze before the house caught fire. The loss will be in the neighborhood of fifty dollars.

Dr. M. L. Ewing will be in Janesville tomorrow to attend the funeral of Dr. Q. O. Sutherland.

David Patchen, who for a short time has been employed in the shops of the Baker Mfg. Co., expects to leave soon for his former home in Minnesota, where he goes to pack his household goods, preparatory to moving his family to this city.

Miss Anna Noyes has closed her school in Magnolia district for a short vacation and she has gone to Madison to spend several days visiting the city school.

John Scheible was a Janesville visitor Tuesday.

Mrs. Ella Reed has returned from a visit of eight or ten weeks to relatives in St. Paul, Minneapolis, La

Crosse and Sparta.

Miss Anna Greenman has been here

from Chicago to visit her mother and other relatives.

J. J. Billings of Albany, Wis., Picked

Up for Dead in Front of St. Paul

Depot Last Night.

J. J. Billings of Albany, Wis., was struck by a switch-engine in front of the St. Paul depot about six o'clock

last evening and was unconscious

when picked up some distance from the tracks. The bystanders who went to his aid feared that he had been killed, but he soon regained consciousness and after Dr. W. H. Palmer had attended him was taken home on a litter. It is thought that he had sustained no permanent injuries. Mr.

Billings was strolling back and forth

in front of the depot when the accident occurred.

streets yesterday and sustained a
